NEW Online Exhibition

RARELY EXHIBITED GREEK POTTERY

Text by:
Benton Kidd, Curator of Ancient Art
Stephen Czujko, Doctoral Student
Department of Ancient Mediterranean Studies

For nearly 3,000 years, ancient Greek artisans produced fine pottery that has been found in all corners of the Mediterranean and as far east as Central Asia. This online exhibit, in two installments, illustrates examples from the Museum's extensive collection of Greek pottery, most of which has not been exhibited in recent history. The first installment encompasses the Bronze Age to the Orientalizing period, ca. 2700–530 BCE.

The Museum is FREE and ADA accessible
