This talk centers around art in the Museum of Art and Archaeology and the State Capitol building in Jefferson City, MO to learn how the State has been a central figure in the history of the United States. The artworks depict the geographic features of the State and its early inhabitants, explorers, and settlers. Learn what the land had to offer people who settled here and what important events in US history played out in Missouri over the last 200 years. The Missouri Bicentennial is a time to celebrate!
